Mile. Rhea has been the recipient of marked personal attentions from the highest social quarters since her arrival here. She was entertained at dinner at the Chinese legation on Wednesday, and was presented with an exquisite place of ivory carvingby the Minister. Miss West, the daughter of the British Minister, invited Mile. Rhea tocall upon her. She has also been called tipon by several of our prominent society people.

Yesterday Mile. Rhea attended high mass at St. Matthew's Church with Mr. Storrs Willis, brother of the late N. P. Willis, and afterward called at the White House. In the evening she dined with Admiral and Mrs. Porter, who also gave her quite a reception, which was attended by many of the most distinguished members of society. Her audiences during last week have been remarkable for the eminent people who attended. President Arthur paid his first visit to the theater since his inauguration in her honor. The diplomatic corps was largely represented nightly during the week, and both Houses of Congress contributed greatly to the number of Mile. Rhea's auditors. She was the recipient of many exquisite floral tributes from notable personages.

Mr. Snyder is a practicing lawyer at Lewisburg, and the acknowledged leader of the Greenbrier country bar. He is a man of forty-live or fifty years of age, universally looked up to by the logal fraternity of his part of the State on account of his probity, learning and native ability. His appointment is considered a very judicious one by those acquainted with him. His term will expire at the next general election, when his successor will be elected by the people. There is an interesting fact in connection with Mr. Snyder's appointment at this time. When Judge Patton was appointed, his most formidable opponent for the position was Mr. Snyder, and it is thought that the choice would have fallen to him but for one fact. A series of articles severely cri-feising the conduct of the Supremo Court of Appeals, and the property of the street of the street of learning and intelligance of the Judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the Greenbrier for learning and intelligance of the judges, had appeared in the greenbrier of the property better than the three whatever.

MT DEAR STM—On the 18 of this month at 6 r. m., Officer Sam'l Atkinson brought to the station house, a man who had just been stricken with palsey—his whole right side being paralyzed and working in spasms at intervals of about every hour. He was removed from here to the Fayette county hospital on the 19th inst., at 11:30 r. m. While here and after regaining consciousness, he gave his name as Hugh McGinley, and said his wife and family resided at Wheeling, W. Va., but in what part of the city we could not understand. If in your power to ascertain the whereabouts on his family if in your city and notify them of his whereabouts and the accident that has befallen, you will be conferring a favor on Mr. McGinley.

Yours respectfully, the case out of a spirit of bragadocio, and was induced to adhere to his story by artful pro-ceedings on the part of the detective who made the arrest.

Mr. Ferguson's story is that he was far from the mill on the night of the fire, as he can prove by four credible witnesses. He from the mill on the night of the fire, as he can prove by four credible witnesses. He says also that the fire originated at the upper end of one of the elevators, in a manner that the proves that it was caused by the friction of the pully. He declares that it could not the pully. He declares that it could not by any possibility have been set affire. He regards the circumstances at reading the case all through as a proving but one thing—that Watkins is crazy. He tells some interesting and a novel stories in connection with the matter, which would be absorbing reading if made public, as they no doubt will be in the course of one or the other of the trials. Mr. Ferguson expresses himself as confident of his complete exoneration from anything like suspicion of connection with the fire. "A End Cold or Distressing Cough."

Dry, parched, sore throat, pneumonia, bronchial and asthmatic attacks, weakened and debilitated state of the system, all these dangerous symptoms are cured by "Da. Swayne's Compround Syrur or WILD GHERK." The first dose gives relief, and the worst cold and sore lung yield to its healing properties. An occasional dose of "Swayne's Pille" should be taken to keep the bowels free. They are excellent for torpid liver and bilious complaints.

A Frankfort (Ky.) physician writes: Some months ago the daughter of one of our prominent citizens was pronounced hopelessly consumptive. She was very much reduced in flesh, terrible cough, her life gradually wasting away. I recommended her to use "Ds. Swayne's Componed Syrur or Will Cherker," which she did. In a short time she was free from all cough and other symptoms, and is now rosy and healthy.

The programme was announced and exicuted as follows:

"How to teach penmanship," illustrated by a class from C grade under the direction of Miss S. J. Meholin, principal, Clay school. The pupils showed accuracy and proficiency both in execution and in telling how to form I the letters.

A class of pupils from C grade under Miss Lizzle Swift did some "lightning calculating" is in addition by tens.

One of the hardest things to do is to hear a something and reproduce it accurately. A c story was read by Miss Mary A. Davis to a class of pupils from A grade, and they were required to reproduce it in about half hour. I the story had been selected by Prof. Anderson and none of the pupils had ever read or cheard it read before. While these pupils to grade, taught by Miss Jane McOlloch, read some selections in a most natural and intersetting manner. She then drilled the class as she does in the every day lesson. Two of the pupils who had reproduced the story the read their compositions, which were very nearly in substance the story a read from the books. This is one of the most valuable exercises practiced in our schools. Music was furnished by the Grammar school pupils.

Supt. Butcher was present, and was called and was carried in our schools and was called upon for remarks. He said some encouraging as things to the teachers, assuring them if the work we had just witnessed was an index of what the teachers are accomplishing for the pupils of the city, that they are succeeding as well as the far fameel Cincinnati schools. Frof. Anderson then read a communication from Mrs. J. C. Hervey, thanking the teachers are applied to the schools on behalf of herself and children for the handsome monuterected to the memory of her late husband, Supt. J. C. Hervey. For the first time in the history of the Cincinnat! Industrial Exposition a first premium has been awarded for Bottled Beer, and the recipient was the above-named firm, bottlers of Moorlein's Lager Beer. The beer used is of a special quality. The material is selected with great care; all possible deleterious ingredlents removed, and then intrusted to the care of expert brewers only. The beer thus produced is of a light color, almost that of a full-bodled Rhine wine. It is free from sweetishness, and has a pungent, aromatic taste. Our Southern friends, especially, will find in this new brand a cheep and whole-some luxury which they cannot fail to appreciate.

About half-past eight o'clock last evening the towboat Enterprise, with a tow of twelve or fifteen barges, was passing the mouth of the creek, she met with a mishap. Pilot Fowler was on watch and he hugged the Island shore too close. The result was, the steamer suddenly struck the sand bank opposite the P., W. & Ky. freight depot and stuck fast. The current swung the head of the tow and it struck the West Virginia shore at the lower end of the levce, crowding the Welcome, which is laid up at the P., W. & Ky. depot, almost entirely out of the water. A blockade of the river was thus formed and the Enterprise was unable to do anything. Fortunately about this time the Little Fred appeared around the bend coming down for barges, and the Enterprise sounded the distress signal. The Fred pulled the tow out of the way and then went to the assistance of the other boat, finally pulling it off about 10:30 r. x. The tow was then made up and the boat proceeded on its way.
